ZELAYA EXHIBITS LETTER BY CANNON

NEW YORK, May 6.—The refugee ex-president of Nicaragua, Zelaya, now in Madrid, Spain, has issued a book written by him in defense of his killing of the two Americans, Leonard Groce and Leroy Cannon, last November.

To Americans, the most interesting portion of the book is the appendix, which gives several long extracts from Zelaya's correspondence.

Among the exhibits is a letter written by the American Groce, to his mother in the United States just before he was executed. It was confiscated by the Nicaraguan officials and the mother never received it. It is as follows:

"El Castillo Fortress, San Juan River, N. C. A., Nov. 16, 1909.

"My Darling Mamma:—This will be a terrible blow to you—the last word you will ever receive from your wayward son. I can't write much, as I am too nervous and have only a few minutes to live. I joined the revolution in the fields and was captured and sentenced to be shot to death. I will be executed, together with another young man from Virginia, Leroy Cannon. It will take place this afternoon at 10 o'clock.

"Now, mother dear, bear up. This is my fate—the results of war and disobedience to a loving mother. It is hard to be shot like this, but I will die like a man. Tell all goodbye; it is impossible for me to write more. Love and kisses as the last farewell on earth to you, dear mother, all the boys and dear little sister. Goodbye until we meet again in heaven. Your loving son, Signed, LEONARD.

There appear two other interesting letters in the book, one by Groce to his Nicaraguan wife, the other from Cannon to Juan Jacobo de Masago. Zelaya prints these letters without any comment, probably resting his defense on the charge of unlawfully putting the two men to death on the admission that they were in the insurrection.

A Joe Miller Joke.

There were two very fat noblemen at the court of Louis XV, the Duke de L. and the Duke de N. They were both one day at the levee, when the king began to rally the former on his corpulence.

"You take no exercise, I suppose," said the king. "Paradise is a fine place, but I don't walk twice a day around my cousin, De N."

"Joe Miller's Jest Book."

A Witty Bishop.

"The late Bishop Foss," said a Philadelphia physician, "once visited me for some trifling ailment."

"Do you," I said to him in the course of my examination, "talk in your sleep?"

"No, sir," he answered. "I talk in other people's. Aren't you aware that I am a divine?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Another Way of Saying It.

Two chorus ladies were at one of Victor Herbert's concerts on complimentary tickets.

"My," exclaimed one of them, who glanced at her program, "don't Mr. Herbert a tremendous repertoire?"

"Well, I wouldn't exactly say that," replied her friend, "but he is getting pretty fat."—Everybody's Magazine.

In a nickel-in-the-slot pool table all the balls roll from the pockets into a common receptacle, from which they cannot be taken until a coin releases a lock.

A new machine separates the whites and yolks of opened eggs by allowing the former to pass through a sieve and automatically ejects the yolks, which will not separate, their weight tripping a tray.

A handy tool for cutting rubber sheeting or soft pack can be made by cutting a set of saw teeth, inclined toward the handle, in on blade of a pair of shears, the teeth holding the material to be cut.

One Pill

It is impossible to be well, simply impossible, if the bowels are constipated. Waste products, poisonous substances, must be removed from the body at least once each day, or there will be trouble. The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one pill at bedtime. All vegetable.

MILLIONAIRE VISITOR IN PHOENIX DIES SUDDENLY

PHOENIX, May 6.—Charles H. Perry, a New York millionaire, who owned one producing Arizona mine and who last September took over the Billy Mack property north of Parker, died very suddenly in room 135 at the Adams hotel Monday afternoon.

Sundays afternoon Mr. Perry came in from Parker on his way to Tucson, where he expected to meet his private secretary, Miss F. G. Evans, who was then on her way from New York. Monday morning he fell ill and sent a bellboy for W. A. Giles, an old friend who lives in the Adams.

Mr. Giles in turn summoned Dr. R. W. Craig.

The physician found that the nerves controlling the arteries leading from the heart were affected and was able to give the patient some relief. He then called in Mrs. Verrier, a trained nurse, and turned Mr. Perry over to her. During the day Dr. Craig made two other visits but found Mr. Perry resting well.

Realizing that it would not be safe for him to continue his journey to Tucson, Mr. Perry sent several telegrams to Miss Evans, who he knew was on the Golden State Limited, directing her to come on to Phoenix without stopping in Tucson. In the afternoon he received a message from the telegraph company saying that Miss Evans could not be located.

Miss Verrier was with him when he read the telegram and according to her, it seemed to cause him keen disappointment. He clutched at his breast, gasped for breath and expired a moment later.

C. W. Harters, superintendent of the Billy Mack mine, arrived from Parker yesterday afternoon to make arrangements for the shipment of the body. He has received telegraphic instructions from Mrs. Perry, who is in New York, to ship the remains to Hartford, where her own people are buried.

Miss Evans arrived in Phoenix yesterday morning and did not learn of the death of her employer, for whom she had worked for twenty-four years, until she reached the Adams.

The deceased was 59 years of age and a man of great wealth. He never claimed to be a millionaire, but it is understood that his estate is valued at several millions. He had offices in both New York and Chicago.

Years ago he purchased the old Salero mine in Santa Cruz county, and during the later years of his life he paid frequent visits to that property.

He became interested in this mine through Prof. W. P. Blake of Tucson. It was also Prof. Blake who interested him in the Billy Mack property and last September he took it over under bond. In February he went to the Billy Mack and remained there with Mr. Harters most of the time until the day of his death. In the interim he made several trips to Tucson and the coast. Mrs. Perry toured the coast with a party of friends during the winter and he went to California to see her. For a time he planned to go east with her but finally decided to remain in Arizona until next June. He sent for Miss Evans, that she might see this territory, and it was arranged that they should return east at the same time.

Mr. Harters was unable to say today whether Mr. Perry's death would interfere with the development of the Billy Mack. He received a wire from the eldest son of the deceased, Mansfield Perry, stating that ample money would be furnished to continue the work now in progress, but it is possible that he will be unable to supply the funds until after the estate has gone through the probate court.

Mr. Perry's family consists of a wife and two sons. The eldest son, Mansfield, is a graduate of Yale, as was his father, and is now a practicing attorney in New York city. Donald Perry, the second son, is at Harvard.
